Roads to Yield In Two Weeks, Says Jewell

Shopmen's Strike Leader Predicts Capitulation of Railway Companies If Men Hold Firm.

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, July 20.—B. M. Jewell, leader of the shopmen's strike, predicted today that the railroads will capitulate and settle the strike within two weeks. "The strike is becoming more effective daily," he said, "and the roads will yield soon as we bring them to their knees." The railroad executives' statement on the seniority question is characterized by Jewell as camouflage designed to conceal the real issue, the national adjustment board. The executive board of striking unions will meet this afternoon to consider a reply to the statement of the rail officials issued last night.

The alley in the rear of the Masonic Temple has been cleared of all encumbrances in order to make way for the putting in of a large quantity of coal in the basement near the boiler room. It is understood that the Temple Corporation, it is understood, has two carloads of coal here, or due to arrive in a few days and work will be started in a few days, putting in part of the supply to operate the heating plant during the coming winter. The coal will be dumped into chutes specially prepared and carrying the fuel to the basement.

DAVIS "WET OR DRY OR BOTH?" ASKS BYRD IN COME-BACK

WINCHESTER, Va., July 19.—On his return today from Richmond, Star Democratic Chairman H. F. Byrd made the following reply to the telegram sent him recently by Governor Westcott Davis: "I do not feel called upon to aid the political propaganda of Candidate Davis. Nevertheless, I may reply with propriety to the telegram sent me by him and widely published. 'He complains that I have defamed the character of Mrs. Hoge, of Loudoun county, president of the Virginia W. C. T. U. each day at the head of the editorial columns of The Star, and I am responsible for all editorials published therein, unless I am credited to other newspapers. This is an example of which Mr. Davis may well take advantage. Why not publish his own name as owner of the Southern Plaster, which he uses so often to praise himself and criticize those who do not support his political ambition? The language employed by Mr. Davis indicates that his career as governor of Virginia has failed to educate him in the use of the English language to such an extent as to enable him to express himself with due regard to the decency which should obtain in the utterances of public men.'"

100 U. S. Sleuths Dry Atlantic City

Federal Agents Descend On Jersey Oasis and Threaten Wholesale Arrests.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 19.—For more than three years an oasis for the thirsty in the midst of a more or less arid United States, this place tonight is as dry as 100 federal prohibition agents determined on business. A search of the hotel and the hotel actually made and fear of those to be made, the resort is really absolutely and heartbreakingly dry.

Snead Trial Is Begun In Court

Evangelist's Wife Tells Of Love Scene With Miss Moody

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 19.—The story of the first love scene of Rev. Melvin E. Trotter, superintendent of the city rescue mission, with his secretary, Miss Florence Moody, was told in Superior court today by Mrs. Trotter as she said it was told to her.

Under redirect examination by her counsel Mrs. Trotter said her husband and his secretary told her the story. It was on Christmas morning, 1916, that Trotter was at work in his private office at the mission the witness swore.

"Miss Moody came to the door and wished him a merry Christmas," Mrs. Trotter testified. "No merry Christmas for me no body loves me," she replied. "Why, I do," said Miss Moody. "If you do, you've got to show me."

"All right, I will," the girl asserted. "She went around his table and took her in his arms," Mrs. Trotter said. She asked them when this alleged story was told her several months later, if that relationship had continued since that time, and was told by Miss Moody that it had not, adding: "Only when you've been talking and we'd get careless."

The witness added that Trotter had remained his secretary after the birth of her child and her return to her work at the mission for her failure to testify, and that the girl did not occasionally testify at the mission meetings but that she never had. Mrs. Trotter asked Miss Moody if it wasn't difficult for her to testify. "Yes, it is," the witness quoted. "I felt like setting up and telling the whole story the other night. I don't know why I didn't."

The evangelist's wife, referring to the scene at the hospital the night Miss Moody's baby was born, said she asked her if she would attempt to cause the mother to tell who was the father of the child. "I said she said it was a married man with a family," the witness explained although at that time she fought over the telegram at Macatawa Park?" asked Attorney Charles Ward.

"I should say it is not," said Mrs. Trotter. "It was later than that; I brought it home from the lake and have it yet."

Political Kettle In Arabia Boils

JERUSALEM, July 19.—The Transjordanian country has been invaded by Ibn Saud, ruler of Nejd, and leader of the powerful Wahabi tribe. Saud has declared hostilities against Abdullah Emir of Transjordan, and at head of 10,000 well-armed Arabs is within four hours march of Amman, the capital of Transjordan, which is about 50 miles east of Jerusalem.

This invasion came without any warning the latter part of May, and it has added materially to the turbulence of Anglo-French relations. In this part of the world. It has brought to light what is alleged to be a secret treaty concluded some three months ago between Saud and representatives of the French Republic.

Emir Abdullah realized at once the seriousness of this move by the Wahabis, whose home territory is in the central part of the Arabian peninsula, and did two things: sent a delegation to Saud to negotiate peace, and informed the Palestine government of the true state of affairs. Mr. Phyllis, British representative in Amman, and General Ghalib Pasha, composing the delegation to the Wahabis, were seized by Saud's followers and released only after very strong representations to the Wahabis from Sir Wyndham Darda, the British acting High Commissioner in Palestine. Saud is still encamped within a short distance of Amman.

The alleged secret treaty with France is said to have been negotiated by a Wahabi named Mohammed Pasha of Oseim. It involves military and political relations and is aimed against Great Britain and her protégé King Hussein of Hejaz, King of Mesopotamia and Emir Abdullah of Transjordan. Its clauses have been published here. They set forth among other things that the French government recognizes the sovereignty of Ibn Saud and agrees to supply him with money, arms and ammunition and to support him if he is attacked by the governments of Hejaz, Mesopotamia or Transjordan.

In return Saud engaged to contribute any tendency toward the formation of an Arab confederation in the Arabian peninsula under the rule of Great Britain and to help with troops in case French soldiers in Syria are attacked by troops or irregular bands from Mesopotamia or Transjordan.

It will be recalled that Ibn Saud last year declared war against Hussein, father of Emir Abdullah, and probably would have captured Mecca had it not been for the timely intervention of Great Britain.

RHEUMATISM Leaves You Forever

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poisons Start to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this country is authorized to say that rheumatism suffers that if a full pint bottle of Allenru, the sure cure of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiful and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenru, who for many years suffered from acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of any one's money unless Allenru decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. McCall's drug store can supply you.—adv.

At 90 She Tended Her Own Garden

(By The Associated Press.)
OBERLIN, Ohio, July 19.—Mrs. Rachel Lazard, who died here recently at the age of 90, was not only the oldest resident of Oberlin but she was the oldest and probably the best known "yarder" in the town.

For 50 years of her lifetime Mrs. Lazard tended her own garden and did all the work herself with the exception of the mowing. When the war garden movement was at its height she was one of the leaders in the country wide campaign to increase the production of food by means of checking the soil of the summer and autumn crops.

A native of Wales, where many of her relatives and descendants live, she had 20 men of her family at the front in the British army. During the last five years of her life Mrs. Lazard gradually lost her use of the English language and went back to the Welsh of her girlhood.

Dangers Of Travel Seen In Rumania

GALATZ, Rumania, June 19.—Some railroad trains in Rumania are so jammed with the raving populace that the conductors are powerless to collect fares. Hence the impression is conveyed that one may travel for nothing which serves only to bring larger numbers to the already overcrowded coaches.

Like most other war-affected countries, Rumania has not enough passenger coaches to take care of the throngs of people who want to travel. The Germans and Austrians confiscated most of the rolling stock. Passengers today are forced to ride on the roofs, bumpers, running boards and even on the under-trucks of the coaches. Pist fights and altercations to save nothing of accidents, fatal and otherwise, are of frequent occurrence.

Held In Hammer Killing

WINCHESTER, July 18.—Writing to a local newspaper yesterday, E. R. Elliott, of No. 604 King street, Alexandria, Va., states that the belled buzzard, seen flying over the Winchester section recently is no myth or the fluke of imagination for he saw and heard the buzzard more than once.

"I thought I would let you know," Elliott wrote, "that I saw this buzzard on May 5, 1921, at Warsaw, Va., three miles down the river from Alexandria. The bird was flying very low and had to flap its wings to get out of an air pocket. The sound of the wings tinkled the bell very much which attracted my attention. I thought you would like to know of the remainings of this bird."

(By The Associated Press.)
VIENNA, July 19.—Countess Herta Trauberg, the German pacifist who has been interned by the Germans during the late war because she condemned submarine warfare, the deportation of Belgian and French women and children, and the treatment of allied prisoners, has been expelled from Germany because she still persists in her peace propaganda.

She is at present in Vienna where she is compiling a book, deriving much of her material from the archives of Vienna. She said to have received war letters exchanged between the emperor of Russia, Emperor William of Germany, and the Austrian Emperor Francis Joseph.

HONEST MAN

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 18.—Had Douglas (Lionel) the Cashier of the East Avenue bridge late last night been taken into the hands of the police, he would have been a very honest man.

He also advertised in the local newspapers saying if anyone could see this money returned to the rightful owner.

In the absence of the police, the mid-week officers of the P. M. Corner church will be conducted tonight by P. M. Comer.

Fight Against Tariff Schedule

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Senate Republicans were accused today by Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, of conducting a filibuster against their tariff bill. His charge came after Senators Gooding of Idaho, chairman of the Republican agricultural tariff bloc, and Ladd of North Dakota, had consumed four hours in reading prepared addresses.

Senator Robinson, who was in charge of the Democratic fight against the tariff schedule technically before the Senate, declared that Senator Gooding's speech was a "general treatment of the tariff" was "irrelevant and to the others of us meaningless." He said the Idaho senator, under the rules, could take the time of the Senate "as I am taking it in discussing nothing when I discuss the senator's speech" but added that Mr. Gooding did so to "the utter discredit of not disgust of senators on the Republican side."

The Arkansas senator went on to say that Senator Ladd had spent an hour and a half urging recognition of the Mexican government, "a question not before the Senate, and worse than that, an issue that cannot come before the Senate under the constitutional practice that prevails." He added that if Senator Ladd wanted the Oregon government recognized he might better accomplish that purpose by mailing a letter to the president than by using the Senate to present his views at the White House.

Senator McCumber, Republican North Dakota, in charge of the tariff bill said in reply that most Senators deprecated the fact that there was not a rule requiring Senators to confine their discussion to the issue before the Senate and added that yesterday Senator Fletcher, Democrat, Florida, had taken up three hours in a speech on the subsidy, "a question dear to his heart."

My colleague (Senator Ladd) thought he might take up about one third of that time in discussing a matter close to his heart," Senator McCumber said. "That the Senator from Arkansas took about one half as much time in telling him that he ought not to have done so."

Returning to consideration of the tariff schedule, the Senate approved the bill.

Nonpartisan League Will Be An Issue

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 20.—The Nonpartisan League issue is expected to attract special attention to the election of the Democratic nomination for governor of Oklahoma. The nonpartisan issue arises from charges made against J. C. Walton, mayor of Oklahoma City and a candidate for the Democratic nomination, who has been endorsed by the Farmers-Labor Reconstruction League, an organization formed at a joint convention of the Oklahoma State Federation of Labor and two groups of farmers. Walton's opponents assert that the Reconstruction League is the Nonpartisan League under a new name, and that Walton is attempting to use the prestige of the Democratic party to sweep the reconstructionists into power. The issue has caused a campaign to take on unusual importance.

Walton is opposed by Thomas H. Owen, former justice of the State Supreme court, and R. H. Wilson, state superintendent of public instruction. All are making vigorous campaigns.

The platform adopted by the Reconstruction League, and upon which Walton agreed to run, includes the following planks: Endorsement of the Blum plan for control of the railroads; approval of public ownership of various utilities and the printing of all school text books by the state; opposition to a reduction in the wages of railroad employees; condemnation of compulsory military training; and a demand that war profiteers be compelled to pay the nation's military debt.

Wilson and Owen have advanced no outstanding principle in their campaigns. Each, however, has recommended changes in the state banking system designed to strengthen the guaranty feature and safeguard member banks.

Next to the Wilson-Walton-Owen race general interest in the primary centers in the congressional contests, in which all present representatives are candidates for re-nomination. Observers are watching especially the second and eighth districts. These are represented respectively by Miss Alice Robertson of Muskogee and Manuel Herrick of Perry. Both Miss Robertson and Herrick were elected in the Republican lands of 1930, and observers agree that stubborn opposition faces them in their efforts for re-nomination.

This is perhaps the first time in the history of the second district that a Republican primary has attracted more than nominal interest. Until 1920, the district was regarded by the Democrats as one of their strongholds. It is said that Miss Robertson is perhaps the only candidate in the primary who is obliged to take into consideration the women's vote. Considerable opposition is said to have been voiced by women of her district to her attitude on various matters of legislation affecting women and children.

Herrick was nominated without opposition in 1920. The lack of an opponent resulted from confusion incident to a double election in the district, one to fill the unexpired term of Dick T. Morgan, deceased, and the other for the regular term. Several candidates who filed for the unexpired term with the intention of serving through the regular term also failed to make a double filing until after the time limit had expired.

L. J. Gannan of Layton, representative from the sixth district, is opposed by the Republican re-nomination. Contests will occur in all other districts, giving little attention to the nomination for governor on the Republican ticket. It being the opinion of politicians that John Fields, editor of a farm paper published here, will get the nomination over George Healy, a retired farmer and stockman of Beaver. Neither is making a campaign.

Including candidates for the state legislature, for district and superior judgeships, nearly 1,000 names will be placed on the state ballots of the two major parties. One hundred and sixty will be on the two tickets nominate by statewide vote. In addition, all county officers will be named.

Will Render Opinion Within Few Days

Commonwealth's Attorney John W. Carter has been too busy conducting prosecutions for the state in the Corporation court to devote any time and thought to the question of ten dollar bounties for policemen in arresting persons charged with violating the Mapp Act. Mayor Wooding asked him recently for an opinion on whether or not policemen could collect $10 as a fee for arresting persons found to be intoxicated.

Mr. Carter proposes to look into the law and to comply with the mayor's request as soon as court has adjourned. This is expected to take place on Saturday, unless present calculations are upset.

RUSSIANS SINK TO CANNIBALISM, SAYS LETTER SMUGGLED TO U. S.

Hunger, indigence and diseases kill hundreds of people every day.

CLEVELAND, July 20.—In extremities of starvation, Russia has sunk to cannibalism, according to a letter received in this city by a friend of L. A. Trofimov, a Russian resident here. The friend, fearing the Red's refusal to allow his name to be made public.

Stories so horrible as to challenge belief are in the letter—stories of mothers killing, cooking and eating their children; of dead bodies rotting in the streets; of a hopeless, despairing nation.

The letter, smuggled past the strict mail censorship in possession of a mutual friend leaving Russia, brands life in the soviet nation as a "terrible, nightmare, daily growing worse."

"Yes, the horrible pictures the letter paints are true," says Trofimov, who fled from Russia under forged passports in 1918. He had served in the Russian navy under the czar, Kerensky, and, for a short time, under Lenin, and was a submarine commander in active service during the war.

"I myself saw the beginnings which inevitably led to this. But there will be a reaction, probably resulting in the return of monarchy."

Lenin, the one sincere man of the Bolsheviks, is conservative in his radicalism. If he dies, as the papers say is likely, men more radical will get control and the peasantry will rise against them. Then, probably a monarchy, for the people of Russia do not know of a good republic such as America. All they know is sovietism and monarchy and between the two they will choose monarchy.

Conditions pictured
"What else will they do when there is no food, no hope of food and scarcely a house in Russia fit to live in? The wooden buildings are torn down for firewood, the brick buildings are crumbling down. Unrepaired roofs admit the water, which freezes between the bricks of the walls and seeps when the houses are dislodged. People live like animals in the basements. All this because the houses have no owners and who cares if they tumble?"

"Cannibalism? Yes, I believe it for when I left Russia every one was consuming and no one being consumed. This would bring the terrible desperation of hunger which well might lead to cannibalism."

Text of Letter
The letter follows:
Limpoperol, March 25, 1932.

Dear Brother, I have a chance to send you this letter by a friend of ours who goes abroad.

I wish to give briefly the picture of the life in soviet Russia.

Hunger, indigence and diseases kill hundreds of people every day. The people die like flies and dead bodies lie in the streets for several days, and rot.

The most hunger is in the Volga region and the Crimea. Inhabitants

L. A. Trofimov in the uniform of an officer in Kerensky's navy and the $6,000 rubles in postage necessary to send a letter from Russia to Cleveland.

This at the pre-war rate, would be approximately $30,000 in our money. The stamps, issued as 250-ruble stamps, have been raised to 7,500-ruble stamps by being rubber-stamped across their face. This is because of lack of adequate government printing facilities.

have eaten up all the cats, dogs, horses and have entered into cannibalism. Often mothers kill their children, cook and eat them.

There is no hope for help and this makes our life worse every day. All who have a chance flee from Russia. If you are able to do something for us I know that you will do it, because we do not know what will happen to us month to month. We would all with great pleasure leave the country of "communist paradise" and go abroad.

I was just graduated from the high school, but I am not allowed to attend university because of my past service with the Whites. Now I am helping my father and we both can hardly earn enough money for several pounds of black bread.

Gets Worse Daily
Yes, the life is a terrible nightmare and is daily getting worse. All are emaciated and downcast and beseech aid—but there is none nor any place from which to obtain it. The fields in Russia have not been sown and next year Russia will die out.

We all beg you to write a few words and advise us how to escape. Prices of food in Russia:

One pound of black bread, 150,000 rubles (before the war a ruble was the equivalent of 48 or 50 cents in America's money).

One pound of meat, 200,000 rubles. One pound of sugar, 350,000 rubles. One pound of butter, 1,000,000 rubles.

Thirty-six pounds of flour, 4,000,000 rubles. One pound of potatoes, 100,000 rubles.

One man's suit, thirty to forty million rubles. Shoes, eight to ten million rubles. The average daily earning is 1,000,000 rubles. How it is possible to live is the question.

Deer Flees To Death As City Mob Pursues

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 12.—Frightened efforts of a young deer that had wandered into the business center of the city early today to escape to the open again ended in death for the animal. This was after it had been chased by a mob and several policemen, smashed into a plate window of a woman's shop and dashed through the streets into the open doorway of the First National bank.

When surprised while browsing in a over bed by the janitor of the City Library, the deer fled across the green in long leaps, knocking down a half dozen persons who were boarding a trolley car at Church and Chapel streets.

The terrified animal continued down Chapel street and, evidently frightened by its reflection in the store windows, veered from one side of the street to the other. Pedestrians joined policemen in the chase. The deer, attempting to turn a corner, crashed through a show window of the apparel shop, being badly cut by glass and ruining several women's suits.

A few seconds it escaped capture, dashing down Orange street to Crown street, grazing buildings and dodging into doorways. At Crown and Church streets, after completing a circle of the business section, it suddenly dashed into the open door of the bank building, colliding with a janitor carrying two pails and a mop. Both were down in a heap.

The pursuing crowd found the deer bleeding to death in a corner and the janitor badly frightened and nursing bruises. State game wardens took charge of the carcass.

Mines In Virginia Cannot Be Worked By New Men Alone

RICHMOND, Va., July 19.—Commenting on a report from Chicago that the mining laws of Illinois and Indiana provide that every miner must have a State certificate proving he is an experienced miner, before going underground, C. H. Morrisett, director of the Virginia State legislature reference bureau, today told a local newspaper that the general mining law in Virginia provides that "each inexperienced man working in a mine must work with an experienced miner." This law, Mr. Morrisett added, was passed by the general assembly in 1912.

Mr. Morrisett expressed the belief that the Virginia law vitally means that the mines cannot be adequately worked without the help of experienced miners. He said he believes the same regulations apply in nearly all coal mining states, but thinks the Illinois and Indiana laws are more stringent than in Virginia and other States.

Hard To Get Men To Hamlet

ROCKINGHAM, July 12.—Everything is quiet in the Hamlet sector, not a sign of violence or any other kind of trouble. The Concord company is camped here at Rockingham awaiting any developments. The 45 men were augmented by five additional members from Concord this morning.

The Seaboard on Tuesday brought the Hamlet men back to work. The strikers persuaded the railroad officials Tuesday night to send them away. This morning 13 additional men were brought to Hamlet by the railroad, but these were not going to work, but the strikers were not opened and on the contrary the men were sent away.

Prosecution Ready For Murder Case

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 19.—The plea to be made tomorrow by Mrs. Clara Phillips to the indictment charging her with the murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, 20-year-old widow, was expected to consume much of the attention of her counsel today.

While W. C. Doran, chief deputy district attorney, said the state was practically ready now for the trial—yet to be set—the defense gave no indication of any such degree of preparedness. Although the statement previously was made that insanity, either permanent or temporary, would be advanced as the defense of the 23-year-old wife charged with the crime, the latest word from her attorneys was that no examination of her mental condition had yet been made on their behalf.

The state, however, has had Mrs. Phillips examined by an alienist, who reported that she was "not legally insane."

Officers announced they had located a clerk in a downtown store who would testify to having said a neighbor to Mrs. Phillips the day before Mrs. Meadows' mutilated body was found upon a lonely hillside drive.

Mrs. Phillips is said to have become intimate with Mrs. Tridiane Oberchain, now on trial for her second time for the murder of her sweetheart, J. Belton Kennedy, and whose cell adjoints that of the alleged slayer of Mrs. Meadows.

DOVER'S DOWNFALL IS ASCRIBED TO ACTIVITY AS "REORGANIZER"

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Confirmation at the White House of reports that Elmer C. Dover, assistant secretary of the treasury, has resigned, ends the Dover-Blair controversy, which has kept the treasury department in considerable turmoil for months. It was said at the White House that Mr. Dover had resigned because he was not in sympathy with the politics of the administration.

Republican patronage and the attempt of Assistant Secretary Dover to "reorganize" the bureau of internal revenue over the objections of Commissioner David H. Blair were the causes of the controversy. Other bureaus were, more or less, involved.

Gratified over the resignation of Mr. Dover, the secretary of the National Civil Service Reform League, H. C. Marsh, of New York, issued a statement saying "The spoilsman in Congress hailed his coming and they will now be his leaving."

"The resignation of Elmer C. Dover," said Mr. Marsh, "is significant of one thing—that Secretary Mellon does not intend to have the service of the treasury department, one of the greatest business organizations in the world, debauched for the sale of rewards to the faithful. It is common knowledge that when Dover came to Washington he started out deliberately to make places in the government service for the Republican organization during the Presidential campaign."

"Spoilsman in Congress hailed his coming and they will now be his leaving. The administration in Washington is fortunate in having escaped from a difficult situation with as little damage. It is safe to say that other unscrupulous administrative officials will not be as anxious to manipulate the service for the sake of party spoils. The Dover episode undoubtedly will have salutary effect."

Assistant Secretary Dover declined to discuss his resignation before leaving for New York on private business. He said any statement would have to come from the White House. From official sources it was learned that Commissioner Blair has not resigned and does not intend to do so.

The Dover-Blair controversy arose almost as soon as Mr. Dover entered the treasury department as assistant secretary several months ago. Mr. Dover, he protege of the late Mark Hanna and a practical politician, is said to have reported to Secretary Mellon and the President that too many "key" positions were held by Democrats.

EUROPE RECEIVERS AGRICULTURALLY

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Agriculture in western Europe is being rapidly re-established on a normal basis according to Nat. C. Murray, crop statistician of the Department of Agriculture who has just returned from an investigation of European crop conditions.

"Farm lands in Germany are well tilled and the farm houses are well kept," said Mr. Murray today. "In the devastated parts of northern France the land has been brought back to a normal state of cultivation."

"The American farmer, visiting western Europe, is impressed by the small size but high state of cultivation of fields, the large proportion of hand labor as contrasted with machine labor on American farms, the large use of women as laborers in the fields, and the use of oxen instead of horses as work animals. Two-wheeled carts instead of four-wheeled wagons are universally used and few automobiles are seen in the farming districts."

Mr. Murray said he was impressed in England by the high prices at which 100 pure-bred Friesian cattle from South Africa sold at an auction sale. The average price for the lot was $5,000 a head, one cow bringing $20,000, and a bull calf born the day before the sale selling for more than $700.

MOSQUITO WRECKS AUTO

NEWRAK, N. J., July 19.—During the last two or three weeks mosquitoes have been working more industriously than for several years, but today set a new record of causing an automobile with a Bloomfield family of five to go over a five-foot embankment.

Louis Leonet, with his wife and three children, was driving when one of the pests lit on his face. As he took both hands off the wheel to swat the mosquito the machine swerved and went over the embankment. None of the riders was injured.

Colonial Affairs In Italy Attract Much Attention

ROME, July 19.—Never have colonial affairs attracted greater attention in Italy than during the last few months and the frequent Arab insurrections have caused considerable public anxiety. The motives of unrest reigning in Tripoli were not particularly limited to that country, but were the direct consequence of the revolutionary movement reigning throughout the Mohammedan countries, such as Egypt and India, and signs of improvement are already apparent.

The history of the Libyan colony in recent years is little known in America. Events naturally have followed the course dictated by leaders, who are under the direct influence of foreign governments in many respects the latest phase of the Fen movement in Ireland. When serious trouble broke out in Egypt it had its immediate repercussion in the neighboring Italian colony.

Since the Italian-Turkish War the Senussi congregation have been the real masters of the situation and events in Tripoli came to a climax with the abduction of Ahmed Sceriff, the Sheikh of the Senussi, whose influence upon his followers was remarkable. It was he who at one time had led an armed opposition against the "infidel invader" Said Isma ben Mohammed el Mahdi, succeeded him as Grand Senussi, and an appointment led to a change of policy, the effect of which were felt very soon.

From September 15 onward the British policy toward the Senussi congregation was characterized by compliance with all Ahmed Sceriff's wishes. This was probably due to England's efforts to secure his support in Egypt, where his influence was perhaps even greater.

In Libya Encouraged by the benevolent neutrality of Great Britain, the Arabs in Tripoli were able to bring from Egypt large consignments of arms, ammunitions, food and gold. Strengthened by this, they were able not only to resist the blockade carried out against them by the Italian fleet, but also to organize an armed resistance, which became stronger and stronger.

A radical change in the British policy toward the Senussi took place when it became manifest that the Senussi were also receiving help directly from the Central Powers, who were sending trained officers to prepare an attack on both Egypt and Tripoli. German submarines frequently took refuge along the undefended coast, and money and arms thus were introduced into Tripoli.

Ahmed Sceriff had been invested with the supreme authority of Grand Senussi by the Turkish leader, Enver Pasha, who on leaving Cyrenaica after the Treaty of Lausanne had obtained for him from the Sultan the title of Emir of Northern Africa. This appointment had thrown the new Senussi leader into the hands of the Young Turks, who had sent Enver Pasha's brother, Nuri Pasha, to Tripoli, to organize an expedition against Egypt. According to a carefully prepared plan the Senussi attack on the western frontier of Egypt was to be followed immediately by a Turkish attack on the Suez Canal.

Accordingly, on the 7th October, 1918, 200 well-equipped Senussi attacked and defeated the British garrison at el Bomba. After this attack General MacMahon took matters into his own hands. He became aware of the strength of the Senussi and of the large sympathies they enjoyed in Egypt. The Uad Ali tribes and the populations living near the Egyptian boundaries revolted. The whole territory of the Senussi was evacuated but General MacMahon attacked the Senussi forces at el Archachir and completely defeated them.

Arabs in Rebellion

The defeat of the Senussi had an immediate result, all the tribes were driven into the interior of the Italian colony, where they began again their secret propaganda against the Italian army of occupation. The fate reserved for the Mohammedan world by the Treaty of Secre helped much in stirring the Arab population to rebellion and the Italians were subject to frequent isolated attacks of bands against their advanced posts.

FOUR ARE HELD FOR ATTEMPT TO HANG SHOPMAN

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 19.—Four men were arrested tonight, and five others are being sought in connection with an alleged attempt to hang J. F. Brittain, an employee of the Radnor shops of the Louisville and Nashville railroad near here last night.

Brittain told the sheriff he was seized by three men as he was leaving work Tuesday and was told they intended to hang him and that a rope was carried along for that purpose. After being forced to accompany the men for a short distance he broke away and escaped, coming into Nashville where he reported the matter to the sheriff. Working quietly the officers early tonight arrested four men, by Eugene Smith, being his name, charged with assault with intent to commit murder, threatening to hang and disturbing the peace. They were later released on bond.

PRINCE LOREE WINS IN GRAND CIRCUIT MEET

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 19.—(By The Associated Press)—Prince Loree, winner of the $5,000 paper mill purse, was obliged to equal the state trotting record of 2:03.4, made by Mable Trash in the same event on the local track in 1916, in order to defeat The Great Volo, the favorite in the first heat. The double-gaited champion then annexed the other two mile and won with the Cox colt a close second in each heat. The three miles were made in the average time of 2:05.

Sun Flash had a hard time defeating Esta G. in the 2:17 pace. The Cox entry finished first in the initial heat, but followed the Canadian mare under the wire in the second. Cox came back and won the third heat in easy fashion with Esta G. finishing way back.

Farker Berry, the favorite in the 2:02 pace, had a hard time finishing ahead of Peter Hanley. The latter entry was first under the wire in the second heat, but Berry, in which he finishes, managed to land the other two.

The 2:14 trot provided the upset of the afternoon. Bill Sharon, the Nova Scotia flash making his first start in two years on the grand circuit, was the favorite. Tony Todd, the Canadian mare, finished behind Holroyd Hilda in the first heat, but came back and took the next two.

The crowd was one of the largest that ever attended a grand circuit meeting in this city.

ROADS TRENCHED AND MINED BY
ARMY FORCES

DUBLIN, July 19—(By the Associated Press)—Most of the roads leading into Cork have been trenched and mined by the irregular army forces. Inside the city their defensive preparations for the coming of the regular army include the smashing of the walls of houses for use as machine gun bases, the heavy barricading of the streets and the occupation of all strategically situated buildings.

Limerick is entirely beleaguered, and in response to a warning from the many of the civilians have fled the city. The army reports to the city is doomed but the national troops are endeavoring to clear away the order obstructions and the mines preparatory to an advance. Regular troops hold the barracks in considerable force.

The official report issued at the week-end which referred to four days of fighting as the last trustworthy news concerning Limerick and there is considerable anxiety regarding the present condition of things.
Evidence that ruthlessness is a part of the policy of the irregulars seeming is shown by documents found on a prisoner taken at Kilkenny. The documents bear the signature of the officer in command of the Kilkenny barracks. They call for the demonstration of leniency and the destruction of roads, railways and telegraph lines.
They also order the commencing of barricades.

HON. J. M. HOOKER IS PLEASED AT OUTLOOK

Hon. J. M. Hooker, representative in Congress for the Fifth district, was in the city yesterday, having come in from his home at Stuart, Va. Mr.
Hooker is naturally pleased with the outlook of his service in the House.
He has been constantly manifested in the fulfillment of another aspirant for the re-election of the Democratic majority. It now seems probable that he will be re-elected without encountering Republican opposition. His exceedingly majoritary 1st year and his conceded strength throughout the district combining to deter Republican candidates in such a forlorn hope.
However, a Republican he nominated his candidate would be merely perpetuating for the National Republican Congress and committee has no funds to waste in hopelessly Democratic districts requiring all it can do to add it to its desperate struggle to retain control of the House.

Mr. Hooker has just returned from a trip over his district made during the recess of the House. He is well pleased with the party solidarity and strength throughout the Fifth and anticipates re-election in any event by a majority limited only by the total vote polled.

Eloping Minister
Sobs At Sentence

The Rev. W. W. Culp Must Serve Year In Workhouse
and Pay $500 Fine—Wife Embarrassed Him.

XENIA, O., July 19—The Rev. W.
W. Culp, former Spring Valley, O. minister, who courted with Miss Esther Hughes, eighteen, a boarder at the Culp home today pleaded guilty of deserting his family and was sentenced to serve one year in the workhouse and fined $500.
Facing the court to enter his confession, Culp sobbed.
I realize I am at the bar of justice authorized by law of God. I realize I have violated not only the law of the country, but of God. I have deep contrition, I feel it keenly. I do not know why my life should have gone this way.

The mother of Culp's nine small children, for a long time after he had been sentenced. Entering the room where she was, he threw his arms about her and pleaded for forgiveness. "I forgive you," was all she was heard to say.

In opening his statement in court,
Culp said:
I married at 19 at the advice of my parents. I stuck to it because I felt it was my duty. Although I did not love my wife, I pleaded with my wife to be converted, so she could be a help to me, but failed.

I have blamed her severely, maybe unjustly. She can't help some things. She was never educated.
When they said she was crazy, I defended her.
I was always embarrassed in every way by her actions until Esther came into my life. Esther was a clean worker in the church and inspired me.

Culp they recited now his affections for the girl had grown until the two had started on the elopement June 14.

Returning to a discussion of his family, the prisoner said he wanted his children to be with him.
"I don't know whether the law will let me have them again," he said, but I would rather go to prison to hell. I am willing to go to the world that I am a true man and that my motives were not base."

FANTS UNDER THIEF'S GAG

ATLANTIC CITY, July 18—Mrs.
James Heron, wife of a printer residing in the Cologne Apartment house was terrified on awakening at 4 o'clock this morning to see a burglar ransacking her bureau drawers. She screamed, and the intruder flourished a revolver.

ENTER —
The FLAPPER

By Zoe Beckley

"Some Button-Polisher, that girl," murmured
Peggy wickedly.

Peggy had slipped away from the house where she was supposed to be studying for an examination in geometry and now she high school girl sat in a boardroom cabaret. With jealous eyes she watched her classmate with Peggy's rival.

The flapper tossed with a glass of fruit punch. A glass idea stirred in her restless mind.

Then followed a series of events not uncommon in the world of the excitement-loving flappers, who have amazed older generation by the energy and boldness of their re-
